CONTENTS VOL. 1, 1987–88

Editorial 1
Characterization of drilling mud fluid invasion
E.C. Donaldson (Norman, Okla., U.S.A.) and V. Chernoglazov (Moscow, U.S.S.R.) 3
Reserves estimation and performance prediction for geopressured gas reservoirs
W.J. Bernard (Baton Rouge, La., U.S.A.) 15
Abnormal formation pressures and their detection by pulsed neutron capture logs
W.H. Fertl (Houston, Tex., U.S.A.) and G.V. Chilingarian (Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A.) 23
Field and laboratory studies of microbial/fines plugging of water injection wells: mechanism, diagnosis and removal
F. Cusack (Calgary, Alta., Canada), D.R. Brown (Inglewood, Calif., U.S.A.), J.W. Costerton (Calgary, Alta., Canada) and D.M. Clementz (La Habra, Calif., U.S.A.) 39
The relative merits of some options for Prudhoe Bay natural gas
D.I. Corley and S.S. Marsden, Jr. (Stanford, Calif., U.S.A.) 51
Pressure sensitivity of low permeability sandstones
N.H. Kilmer, N.R. Morrow (Socorro, N.M., U.S.A.) and J.K. Pitman (Reston, W.Va., U.S.A.) 65
Well logging technology for highly deviated and horizontal wellbores
W.H. Fertl and J.R. Martin (Houston, Tex., U.S.A.) 83
Hydrocarbon distribution patterns in Nigerian growth fault structures controlled by structural style and stratigraphy
K.J. Weber (Den Haag, The Netherlands) 91
Geological control in the distribution of source rocks and reservoirs in Upper Cretaceous carbonates of southeast Turkey
C. Wagner and M. Pehlivan (Ankara, Turkey) 105
A gas-oil reservoir model by Galerkin's method
G. Gottardi and E. Mesini (Bologna, Italy) 115
The alteration of rock properties due to interactions with drilling-fluid components
M.M. Sharma and R.W. Wunderlich (La Habra, Calif., U.S.A.) 127
Real-time evaluation of matrix acidizing treatments
L.P. Prouvost (St. Etienne, France) and M.J. Economides (Houston, Tex., U.S.A.) 145
Relationships between clay minerals, low temperatures, high pore pressures, and oil and gas reservoirs at great depths in the Baku Archipelago, U.S.S.R.
R.D. Djevanshir (Baku, U.S.S.R.) 155
Two-phase flow of a shear thinning fluid in reservoir rock
J.G. Savins, C.A. Dimon and G.C. Wallick (Dallas, Tex., U.S.A.) 163
Formation evaluation of carbonate rocks
G.V. Chilingarian (Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A.) and W.H. Fertl (Houston, Tex., U.S.A.) 181
Well test interpretation for reservoirs with a single linear no-flow barrier
F.J. Kuchuk (Ridgefield, Conn., U.S.A.) and S. Kabir (Rosharon, Tex., U.S.A.) 195
Attaching new meanings to the equations of Buckley and Leverett
W. Rose (Champaign, Ill., U.S.A.) 223
Asphaltene deposition: a survey of field experiences and research approaches
K.J. Leontaritis and G.A. Mansoori (Chicago, Ill., U.S.A.) 229
Analysis and evaluation of gas well tests for wells intersected by finite conductivity hydraulic fractures
H.S. Al-Hashim (Dhahran, Saudi Arabia) and D.M. Bass, Jr. (Florien, La., U.S.A.) 241
Book Reviews
Reservoir Sedimentology, by R.W. Tillman and K.J. Weber (Editors) — S.J. Mazzullo 259
Log Analysis of Subsurface Geology: Concepts and Computer Methods, by J.H. Doveton — J.W. Schmoker 259

Errata 261
Preparation of synthetic oil-sand cores
M. Polikar (Edmonton, Alta., Canada), V.R. Puttagunta (Thunder Bay, Ont., Canada), F. Ferracuti and S.M. Farouq Ali (Edmonton, Alta, Canada) 263
A new derivative type-curve for pressure buildup analysis with boundary effects
S. Mishra (Blacksburg, Va., U.S.A.) and H.J. Ramey, Jr. (Stanford, Calif., U.S.A.) 271
Finite-element analyses of water flooding in irregularly shaped reservoirs
A.R. Kukreti, M.M. Zaman, F. Civan and Y. Rajapaksa (Norman, Okla., U.S.A.) 277
Prediction of fluid-flow parameters in a gas-cut mud, 1. A basic computer program for determining the fluid-flow parameters in a gas-cut mud
G.A. Chukwu (Norman, Okla., U.S.A.) and L. Galloway (Houston, Tex., U.S.A.) 295
An algorithm for determining stratigraphic dip
C. Carter Waid, S.B. Easton and G.S. Weissmann (Houston, Tex., U.S.A.) 301
A condensation model for calculating pressure gradients in condensate wells
D. Sutton and J. Langlinais (Baton Rouge, La., U.S.A.) 315
A field method for assessing borehole friction for directional well casing
E.E. Maidla and A.K. Wojtanowicz (Baton Rouge, La., U.S.A.) 323
Adsorption and precipitation behaviour of petroleum sulfonates from Saudi Arabian limestone
H.S. Al-Hashim, M.S. Celik, M.M. Oskay and H.Y. Al-Yousef (Dhaharan, Saudi Arabia) 335
